

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Spanish Department of Modern Languages and Literatures

Kenyon College, a highly selective, nationally ranked liberal arts college in central Ohio, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Spanish at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in July 2024. PhD in Spanish Language and Literature, Hispanic Studies, Comparative Literature, or a closely related field is required. The successful candidate will have native or near-native proficiency in Spanish, a demonstrable record of teaching excellence in Spanish as a second language, and a promising research agenda. Preference is for a generalist in Latin American literature and culture, with a complementary field of specialization that might extend to Indigenous Studies, Migration or Border Studies, and/or LGBTQ+ Studies.

In the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, the Spanish program at Kenyon offers a wide range of Spanish language, literature, film, and translation courses, and it allows students to major and minor in Spanish. The program is looking for an energetic and innovative candidate to teach language courses at all levels, courses in the curriculum, advanced courses in the candidate's field of expertise, and courses that contribute to interdisciplinary programs. The teaching load consists of a 3/2 course schedule.

All application materials must be submitted electronically through Kenyon's employment website: <http://careers.kenyon.edu>. Please submit 1) a cover letter addressing the applicant's teaching, research, and efforts toward diversity and inclusion; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) evidence of teaching excellence; and 4) an unofficial graduate transcript. Candidates selected to move forward in the search will be asked to provide further materials (including 3 letters of reference, a writing sample, a statement of teaching philosophy, and sample syllabi).

Review of applications will begin November 18, and will continue until the position is filled. Completed applications received by the November 17, 2023 deadline will be guaranteed full consideration.

Kenyon College is a nationally prominent, private liberal arts college where academic excellence goes hand in hand with a strong sense of community and close relationships among students and professors.
