Mission Statement:

Boston University is an international, comprehensive, private research university, committed to educating students to be reflective, resourceful individuals ready to live, adapt, and lead in an interconnected world. Boston University is committed to generating new knowledge to benefit society.

Boston University remains dedicated to these founding principles: that higher education should be accessible to all and that research, scholarship, artistic creation, and professional practice should be conducted in the service of the wider community—local and international. These principles endure in the University's insistence on the value of diversity, in its tradition and standards of excellence, and in its dynamic engagement with the City of Boston and the world.

Boston University comprises a remarkable range of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs built on a strong foundation of the liberal arts and sciences. With the support and oversight of the Board of Trustees, the University, through the faculty, is continually innovative in education and research to ensure that BU meets the needs of students in an ever-changing world.

Qualifications:

- Earned doctoral degree (PhD or equivalent) with a funded research program in or relevant to occupational therapy;
- Experience teaching at the graduate level, preferably including entry-level professional students;
- Experience mentoring others in the development of their programs of research and scholarship;
- A record of professional engagement;
- Clinical background as an occupational therapist strongly preferred;
- Demonstration of a strong research background and a successful record of external support for research.

This is a full-time, tenured position with a 9-month appointment plus summer over-base pay. Academic year requirements include teaching, research, and service. Rank and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and level of experience.

Leadership Responsibilities:

Provides leadership to faculty, administrative staff, and students within the program; facilitates communication, clarification and implementation of university and department policies and procedures; provides leadership through planning, implementation and evaluation of the Occupational Therapy Program and through support of the program, department, and institution's mission.
