THE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY PROUDLY PRESENTS
THE 2012 - 13 SOCIOLOGY SEMINAR SERIES
featuring

DINO CHRISTENSON

presenting

COMPARING MEMBERSHIP INTEREST GROUP NETWORKS ACROSS SPACE AND TIME, SIZE, ISSUE AND INDUSTRY

Dino Pinterpe Christenson (PhD, Ohio State University) is an Assistant Professor of Political Science at Boston University and a Junior Fellow at the Hariri Institute for Computing & Computational Science & Engineering. Christenson studies American political behavior and quantitative methods with a focus on the context in which individuals and organizations seek out, receive and process political information. His recent work explores campaign dynamics in the early stages of presidential primary elections, public opinion and the information environment of policy processes as well as interest group networks.

His work has appeared in American Politics Research, Social Networks, Presidential Studies Quarterly and Political Behavior, among other outlets.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 15TH, 2013 - 12 PM
96-100 CUMMINGSTON STREET - ROOM 241

BU College of Arts & Sciences

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT socdept@bu.edu