Florence Nightingale in her later years

Let us now go forth as disciples of Florence Nightingale by always doing all we can so that all nursologists are or soon will be reformers. Let us “never [lose our] passion for reform” (Thompson, 1992, p. 79), especially reform that advances nursology, so that all of us fully understand and apply knowledge of the what, why, when, where, and how we “collaborate with other human beings as they experience wellness, illness, and disease, within the context of their environments” (Fawcett, 2019, p. 919).
