

Place-based Pedagogy In-class Activity 1

Generating Potential Questions from Observations

- 1. After you get into groups, one of you should make a Google doc through his or her BU email account and then share that doc with your group members and your instructor.
- 2. All group members should share the highlights from their notes that they prepared in the online activity.
- 3. In your Group Google doc, work together to come up with five different questions that could lead to potential claims / arguments. Work together as a group to discuss, develop, and refine each of the five questions.
