

What is a Hero?

Kindness, self-esteem, and putting others before yourself are the three main traits of a hero.

The first trait for a good hero is kindness. Heroes need to be kind because being a hero is more than just saving someone's life. A hero must be considerate of others. Nobody likes an inconsiderate person. If a hero were acting like an inconsiderate person, it would be like doing chores and then saying, "Next time do it on your own". A hero must act in a kind way or people would know them as an "annoyance".

A second trait a hero must have is self-esteem. If heroes don't have faith in themselves, it will be even harder for them to help others. For example, if a fireman decided not to do his job because he was scared, the family in the house of fire would be in great danger. Being a hero requires believing in oneself to help other people.

The last trait a hero needs is being selfless. If a person is always being selfish, they will think too much of themselves to help anyone else. For example, say someone trips. A selfish person wouldn't realize that person fell down, only that they are late for work. A hero would spend a minute helping the person, making sure they were okay. The person who tripped would think of the selfless person as a hero for helping them.

Being kind, having self-esteem, and being selfless are the three most important traits of a hero. Now that you know the three traits, try to do them and become a hero to others.

What can you add here for a hook? Questions? Examples?

Kindness, self-esteem and putting others before yourself are the 3 main character traits of a hero.

Whose traits are these? Yours? or a hero's?

My first trait is kindness. Kindness is an important character trait because no one likes a stuck-up person. It's like doing chores then saying "next time do it on your own". You might be a hero but in reality you would known as an "annoyance".

Why must a hero be kind? How does kindness help the hero?

Remember, you are saying heroes must be kind. This sentence kind of says, "Heroes" can be rude

My second trait is self-esteem. If you don't have faith in yourself, it

If a hero doesn't have faith in him or her, it will be even harder to help others. For example, if a fireman decided not to do his job because he was scared, the family in the house of fire would be in great danger. Being a hero requires you believing in yourself to help other people.

Finally, heroes must be

My last trait is ~~being~~ selfless. If you always being selfish you will

a person is he or she think too much of yourself to help anyone else. Say someone trips. A

him or herself

For example, selfish person wouldn't realize there late for work. A selfless person

Why? Because they were too concerned with being late to work? hero?

would spend a minute helping the person, making sure they were okay.

The person who tripped would think of the selfless person as more of a hero for helping him.

Being kind, having self-esteem and being selfless are the three main character traits of a hero. Now what? Maybe add a sentence or too | two | to?
